THE CONFERENCE CALLER: Moho Resources (ASX) Australian Securities Exchange in November 2018 on that raised $5.3 million.

The company has endeavoured to spend this money on exploration activities on its portfolio of projects in both Western Australia and Queensland, two well-known Australian mining jurisdictions that include three highly prospective projects at Empress Springs, Silver Swan North and Burracoppin.

Moho's Board is chaired by mining industry identity Terry Streeter, a well-known and highly successful West Australian businessman with extensive experience in funding and overseeing exploration and mining companies, including Jubilee Mines NL, Western Areas NL and Midas Resources Ltd.

Moho has a strong and experienced Board lead by geoscientist Shane Sadleir as managing director, commercial director Ralph Winter and Adrian Larking, lawyer and geologist, as non-executive director.

Ralph Winter sat down with The Resources Roadhouse at the 2019 Diggers & Dealers Mining Forum in Kalgoorlie to discuss how the company's drilling programs are progressing.
